I IWC and You

I IWC is an opportunity for the women of Irving to join together as a community to celebrate the beauty of their differences as individuals and the uniting force that encapsulates us all. I IWC began as a small collective group of ten women, each representing a different culture or ethnicity and has grown to include thirty cultures and over twenty nationalities.

The I IWC's phenomenal approach serves as a springboard to empower women to take charge of their lives and to collectively explore and honor their multicultural uniqueness. Its approach carries with it long-term benefits for the community, including an opportunity to expand into a rich educational resource through partnerships with Northlake College, lecture series, and quarterly workshops.

The I IWC's vision crosses every cultural barrier and instills in each woman a sense of equality, laying at their feet the resources they need to fulfill their inner potential and significantly impact their families, their communities and their organizations with lasting results.

IIWC VISION

The Irving International Women's Consortium (IIWC), is a young organization with a mission to educate, support, and create opportunities for women of all races, cultures, and ethnicities thereby empowering their energy and skills to be realized in the community. Empowering and releasing diverse energy into the community allows each woman to step into, and excel in, new found leadership roles. The success of IIWC lies in its ability to focus on the thread of diversity and interweave it into each of its programs. That clear respect for the insights of others, and the various stages each woman is at in her personal growth, strengthens the whole and expands the vision outward to the community. It is this strong commitment to celebrating the ebb and flow of ideas, cultures, and thought that is the foundation of IIWC and takes its success beyond mere numbers and statistics.

IIWC PROGRAMS

Since its inception in 2006 the IIWC has developed programs that capitalize on the strengths of women to bring forth a new culture. From workshops, to lecture series, to classrooms offering continuing education credits, IIWC provides to the diverse population of Irving an opportunity to expand upon existing skills through peer mentoring and continual programming. Assisting women of all income levels and educational backgrounds, the IIWC not only assists women with assimilating into the American culture, but does so in such a way that it is producing radical shifts in society's thinking. Drawing upon the strength and traditions of various cultures, IIWC is breeding a new type of leadership for the 21st century. These will be leaders who produce that produce breakthrough results in communication, understanding and collaboration. It is a celebration of feminine energy that will develop future leaders through this life-transforming program.
